McCarthy and N. Vietnam Chiefs Meet

PARIS (AP) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., flew to London today after a three-day visit to Paris during which he met the leaders of the American, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations at the Paris peace talks.

McCarthy spent 4 1/2 hours Tuesday in what an aide called "cordial and informative conversation" with Xuan Thuy, North Vietnam's chief delegate. He talked Monday with Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh of the Viet Cong.

A spokesman said McCarthy will make a "full, contextual statement on his talks with Xuan Thuy after his return to the United States" although not immediately.

Retrieve 33 Bodies in Air Crash

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — Fishermen have recovered the bodies of all 33 persons who perished when a twin-engine airliner crashed into a shallow lagoon Tuesday.

Authorities said the DC3, only aircraff operated by Polynesian Airlines, crashed and burned seconds after it took off from Faleolo Airport, in the independent island country of Western Samoa.

12 of Ruffins addition. They also reviewed requests for zoning changes to permit some business locations on North Hazel. The application for some changes had been reviewed and a public hearing held by the Planning and Zoning Commission who approved the changes. The board requested the petitioners to have an ordinance prepared covering the changes.

A request from Claud Sutton asked for a 3-year extension of his lease on 41 acres of land on Rocky Mound road, which is owned by the city. The board asked the city manager to get an appraisal on the property before the extension of the lease. The present lease on the property was the high bid received in 1967, at an annual lease of $281. The board asked that this appraisal be completed, if at all possible, so that action could be taken at the next regular meeting.

MOTHER TELLS

man notified police. Karen said she was taken to a "little house" lighted only by candles. She said all but one of the men left and that he never hurt her or made threats.

She said she was placed in another car with her hands tied behind her back after the men returned, about 2 a.m. Friday and they drove for a long time, stopping about six times before reaching a motel shortly before 4 a.m. She said she was then put to bed.

Later, she said, a man tied her feet and said he and his companions were going to eat. "They returned a little before 7 a.m. and told me my daddy made a mistake by calling the police," Karen said. "I asked them how they knew he had called them, and he said a buddy of his drove by the police station and saw the car belonging to his friends."

"At this time, things began to get confused, I think one of them made some phone calls about 8:30 a.m. It seems the first call was to my dad to tell him they would kill me if their buddies weren't released. The other call was to be at 11:30 a.m. to tell dad where to drop the money."

Police have said they took four persons into custody, but released them after receiving a phone call from a man who said Karen would be killed if the four weren't freed.

"When it got late Friday, the man with me said he was thinking about letting me go," Miss Vickers said. "I told him I would do anything, get him money and help him get out of town if he would. We made a deal and he agreed to let me go by 6 p.m. Saturday if he didn't hear from his friends by then."

"He told me if he killed me here nobody would know but his friends. So they must have changed plans without the others. I asked him if he thought his friend had picked up the money and left without him. He said his friend wouldn't do that. He was real jumpy."

She said that about 5:30 p.m. Friday the man who was holding her at the motel told her to go into the bathroom and remove her clothes, saying he was leaving to make a telephone call and wanted to make sure she wouldn't escape. Karen said he retied her and put her in bed, but apparently then decided not to leave.

"When it started getting dark, I got scared again," Karen said. "I guess I went into shock. All I could do was sit and stare at the floor from under my blindfold. When it got real dark, he let me take my blindfold off, but told me not to look at him."

"Along about 8 p.m., he tied me up again. I believe he was going to leave, but he didn't. He gathered his stuff up as if he were, but apparently changed his mind. About 9 p.m., a car pulled up and his buddy came in."

"The man untied me again, but told me not to look at them. He told me to get dressed. It was dark in the room, I couldn't have seen them if I had to. The other man told me my dad must not care very much for me because he didn't put the money where he was told. It was at this time the man who had kept me in the motel became aware of police out there. They started cussing the police."

"One man said, 'Man, there's no way to get out of this. Let's give up.' . . . The first man told me to walk out. When I got to the door, he told me wait. I was real scared. I thought they were going to shoot me in the back as I walked out. When I stopped at the door, he told me to turn on the light and turn around. I did. He then asked me what I was going to tell the police. I said I would tell them exactly what happened."

"He said no, I was to tell them I stayed here of my own free will and not to identify either of them. I agreed. I knew I wouldn't have to identify them."

Karen walked out of the motel room about 9:50 p.m. Friday.

"I was real glad to get out of there and very glad to see the police," she said.

Five men have been arrested and charged in the kidnapping. No ransom was paid.

Electronic Equipment at 1st National

The First National Bank of Hope has recently completed the installation of an electronic surveillance system. The FBI has recommended that all banks install electronic equipment in an effort to prevent crimes against financial institutions and the system utilized by the Bank is the most advanced equipment in Southwest Arkansas. Two "silent sentry" cameras record activities within the bank, and all desks and tellers' windows are equipped with emergency signaling devices which automatically alert the Police Department by a "silent signal." A heat and sound-sensitive device in the vault also triggers this signal. This Diebold produced equipment is a "fail-safe" self-contained system, and any attempt to disable the system will automatically trip the alarm. No robbery attempt has been made on First National since 1933, but any future attempt should be forestalled by the installation of this surveillance system, and customers and employees of the bank can conduct business in complete security in the face of the rising rate in bank robberies.

Drivers' Education Course

Drivers will again have an opportunity to take the 8 hour Defensive Driving Short Course, according to the Agricultural Extension office. The course will be taught by Trooper Ray Davis in four sessions on Monday nights; January 20, February 2, 9, 16, from 7:00 p.m.—9:00 p.m. at Red River Vocational School.

To enroll call the Agricultural Extension Service to use this opportunity to make-up the sessions missed and qualify for a certificate.

Captain Milton Mosier, supervisor to Trooper Davis, is pictured above discussing the student workbook. The Captain recommends and encourages all drivers to take this defensive driving training on how to be alert to preventing accidents.

The instructor will be bringing out potentially dangerous situations which will include hazards that we run into in day-to-day driving, things you don't notice but that are necessary to defend yourself from accidents.

The training is being sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the police, local educational and governmental organizations. The only cost for this training will be $1.00 to pay for the workbook prepared for each student by the National Safety Council. This will be paid when the book is received at the first session attended.

"He has been saying yes at the office so long that his wife was able to wheedle a fur coat out of him this year because he had forgotten how to say no."

"His biggest ambition is to be vice president in charge of all the other vice presidents."

GOP LIBERALS

for something the liberal community has been advocating for years and we get nothing but token support," said one HEW legislative strategist. "You can bet they'd be pressuring Congress like crazy for this if a Democrat had come up with it."

Finch contended a virtual conspiracy of silence has enveloped welfare reform despite the administration's elaborate public relations efforts aimed at governors, mayors, newspaper editors and public opinion leaders.

Finch added this pessimistic note: "I would estimate the odds in Congress for any type of welfare reform are very, very bad today."

Presidential prestige is a further reason Finch decided to take off the gloves against Congress.

The White House has said repeatedly welfare reform is a keystone of the administration's domestic policy. Winning the fight therefore is imperative politically.

What the President wants is this: Replacement of the present piecemeal welfare system with a federally-administered and financed program that will guarantee a family of four $2,320 a year in cash and food stamps.

Uniform national eligibility criteria would be established; working poor could receive benefits for the first time; and work requirements would be tied to an elaborate network of day care centers for children.

The family assistance program would cost an extra $4.4 billion a year and increase the number of recipients to 25 million from the current 10 million.

charged that:

"By giving undesirable discharges to GIs who have been brave enough to stand up for their constitutional rights in spite of continued intimidation, harassment, and confinement, the Army has admitted that they refuse to allow GIs the same rights as civilians."

This committee, whose honorary chairman is Lord Bertrand Russell, describes its purpose as defending the constitutional rights of American citizens in uniform. It has obtained legal counsel for servicemen who claim their rights were violated by military superiors.

Rudder and Cole were among eight GIs hit by the Army with serious charges last spring as a result of an antiwar meeting outside a barracks. The charges later were dropped.

Meanwhile, Atlanta attorney Peter A. Rindskopf says he will appeal a similar undesirable discharge ordered last year for Pfc. Dennis Davis, editor of an underground antiwar newspaper called "The Last Harass" at Fort Gordon, Ga.

Meanwhile, an Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Board is preparing to hear charges against an off-post coffee house maintained by antiwar civilians in Tacoma, Wash., near the Army's Fort Lewis and the Air Force's McChord Air Force Base.

The hearing, scheduled for Jan. 22, could lead to an official declaration that the coffee house, "The Shelter Half," is off limits to servicemen.

This is the first known move by military authorities against such coffee houses dotted around the country near major bases.

Pentagon officials disclaim knowledge of any Washington-directed offensive against the antiwar social centers, saying local commanders are responsible for such matters.

CHURCH CIRCLE MEETS

Circle 5, WSCS, began the new church year and the new calendar year with a meeting on Monday, January 12 in the home of Mrs. W.C. Bruner, Jr. with Mrs. Robert Parham, co-hostess.

During the ensuing year closer communion among members will be sought as well as new additions to the roll. A friendship basket is being circulated in Circle 5, and as a member receives it with a token of friendship, she is asked to make a similar gesture to another Circle member. The basket is expected to make several stops during the month, and the one holding it on the day of the next meeting is asked to bring any change in the accompanying coin box to the local treasurer.

Each month those at the meeting will name a Member of the Month, and $1 will be set aside in her name for the yearly gift to the Methodist Children's Home. At the end of the year, the Members of the Month and the money given in their names will be sent to the children's home.

Officers and committees for the 1970-71 were recognized as follows: chairman, Mary Anita Laseter; vice-chairman, Mary Jim Hutson, secretary, Margaret Parham; treasurer, Mary McCauley; social relations, Polly Williams; telephone, Kathryn Odette Johnson, Willie Mae McIver; local treasurer, Velda Seaman; yearbooks, June Still.

An inspirational pledge service under the direction of Mrs. Wesley Huddleston opened this meeting. She told the members they should pledge their usefulness and their talents as well as their generosity. After her talk, the group of 11 sang, "Can The World See Jesus In You?"

Pledge cards were filled out, and Mrs. Huddleston, the immediate past Circle chairman, was voted Member of the Month. The hostesses served tea, coffee, and cold drinks with cookies, and a period of fellowship was enjoyed.

SHOVER SPRINGS HOME-MAKERS CLUB MEETS

The lovely new home of Mrs. C.R. Johnson was the scene of the Shover Springs Homemakers Club meeting on Thursday, January 8. Those in the club presented Mrs. Johnson a pretty mirror as a housewarming gift.

After the president, Mrs. A.M. Hewitt, had called the meeting to order, she presented a lesson on Human Relations, which dealt with personal adjustments to others. The same theme was used in answering the roll call by telling what helped each one to understand other people.

The Eye Opener was a poem "Recipe for a Day," and all joined in singing "Onward Christian Soldiers." Mrs. Clifton East and Mrs. Wilton Mullins each gave a Leader's Report. Plans were made for organizing a knitting class as a club project. New leaders for the coming year were named.

When the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served to 11 members and 3 children by the hostesses, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. J.B. White. The next meeting is to be held in the home of Mrs. A.M. Hewitt at 1 p.m.

ROSE GARDEN CLUB

Robert Vandiver, associate county agent, brought the Rose Garden Club up-to-date on Lawns and Lawn Care in a program arranged by Mrs. Carl Bramlett and presented on Friday, January 9 at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Harry Shiver.

Members eagerly received the helpful information offered pertaining to different grasses and

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Mrs. Rebecca Lou Crouch has been appointed associate Extension home economist—nutrition for Hempstead County, C.A. Vines, director, Agricultural Extension

REBECCA LOU CROUCH

Service, has announced. Her appointment, effective January 5, is subject to the approval of the President of the University of Arkansas.

Mrs. Crouch will be devoting full time to educational work in the special nutrition program in the county. She will work with individuals and groups to provide educational assistance which is designed to improve the nutritional quality and adequacy of family diets and to improve skills as they relate to food procurement, selection, preparation, storage, and consumption. At least 75 percent of her time will be devoted to strengthening the nutritional educational program with youth in the county.

Mrs. Crouch is a native Arkansan and attended public school at Rison. She attended Arkansas A&M for two years then transferred to Henderson State Teachers College where she received her Bachelor of Science degree.

In June, 1962 she was appointed assistant home demonstration agent in Ashley County. She later served as home demonstration agent in Dallas and Grant Counties. She resigned in January, 1968, when her husband took a job in another town.

Vines pointed out that Extension work in Hempstead County is a cooperative effort and supported jointly by the county, state and federal governments. The educational program is developed in cooperation with the people to help them improve job opportunities, raise income, and improve levels of living.

how to care for them. A question-and-answer period followed the presentation of the prepared program.

During the short business session, the president, Mrs. Ned Purtle, handled routine matters. Mrs. Shiver and her co-hostess, Mrs. Garrett Story, served a desert plate and coffee to 14.

LADIES GOLF ASSOCIATION

Tournament plans were made by the Hope Ladies Golf Association at a meeting Thursday, January 8 at the Hope Country Club. The president, Mrs. Henry Seaman, led in the discussion, and it was decided to have an Invitational Tournament in the fall, the Ladies Golf Association tourney in May, and one for all ladies in the Hope Country Club in October.

Mrs. Emmett Wassell was hostess for the meeting, and a sack lunch was eaten at noon. Because of inclement weather, the members decided to forgo golf in the morning and the afternoon. Instead, they played bridge at two tables.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

TRUTH ON A POSTAL CARD HARD TO TAKE

Dear Helen: Please tell me what you think of the postal card I received recently from a so-called friend—who didn't have the guts to sign her name. Here it is:

"Dear Mary: It has been over two months since your daughter was married. Don't you think it would be nice if she acknowledged some of the wedding gifts she received by sending the customary thank-you notes? Many people are waiting.—A FRIEND"

My daughter is working, going to college, and taking care of a new husband. She sent out the notes two days before I received the card.

Even though her thank-yous weren't in the mail, would a "friend" anonymously remind me on a postcard?—MARY

Dear Mary: A "friend" never writes an anonymous letter of criticism. Try to forget this gauche card or suspicion may turn several real friends into potential enemies.—H.

Dear Helen: Good for "Smart and Sneaky" (who wangled invitations for the wives to the annual Christmas party.)

Such parties get out of hand and it's unfair to wives who aren't aware of what is going on (or maybe they are!)

There is a splinter secretary at my office who plans Christmas parties and makes sure wives are omitted. After a few drinks she doesn't care whose husband or boy friend she winds up with. She also makes sure she leaves her car at home so some man must volunteer—and when he knows what's waiting for him, he usually does!

Here's a note for wives: Most companies don't have rules barring spouses at Christmas parties. There's no reason why wives can't attend, and if enough call up and complain when they are told they aren't wanted, those wild parties will come to a screeching halt.—WIVES UNITED!

Dear Helen: "Smart and Sneaky" evidently blamed the no-wives Christmas party on the secretaries. Not so! Men enjoy those once-a-year free-for-all supposed to remember it next day.

If they don't want their wives along, the wives shouldn't push themselves into the party. And they shouldn't be so naive as to say their husbands are forced to attend "because of their position as bosses."

I think the wives should plan a party of their own that night, being very secretive about who they are inviting and what they plan. If the men are worried about what their women are up to, they may scratch the Christmas party next year.—ANOTHER SNEAKY ONE

Dear Helen: I have been fighting in my own small way the inequity of Social Security benefits for working wives. The following letter might help the cause, if enough women would tailor it to their employment record and send it to the Treasury Department—together with a copy to their Congressman:

"U.S. Treasury Department, Washington, D.C.: Social Security deductions have been made from my salary in the past 32 years. Since there is now no discrimination by the Government as to sex, race, etc., there should be no discrimination against a working wife being entitled to the same benefits as non-working wives.

"I have determined it will be more feasible for me to accept one-half of my husband's monthly Social Security benefits, rather than my working-wife allowance.

Therefore, kindly refund the money deducted from my salary for Social Security payments (approximately $3,000) plus interest to date.—FIGHT, FIGHT, FIGHT!"

Dear Helen: And Mrs. Bottel to "em!—H.

Prefer Color to Bath

The desire for colored bathroom fixtures is at an all-time high, according to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau. A study of the attitudes of 1,000 women from middle-income households revealed that 70 per cent want color in their next bathroom. Among women who already have colored bathroom fixtures, the percentage was even higher—80 per cent for color over white.

Colorful Basin

There is a basin that can be installed in a countertop as narrow as 15 inches from front to back. Designed in delta shape, the sink measures 21 by 15 inches and is available in the latest colors for bathroom fixtures—blue, gold or avocado.

Synthetic Sponges

Synthetic sponges work best for washing dishes, cleaning sinks, basins, mirrors, glass tops and washing down furniture. The large, synthetic sponge with large pores is used for walls and ceilings.

VICKIE FRANKS

MAGNOLIA—Vickie Franks of Hope will be one of 72 candidates for degrees from Southern State College at the end of the fall semester Jan. 23, according to James L. Smyth, registrar.

Mrs. Franks will be a candidate for the bachelor of science in education at Southern State, where she is a senior elementary education major and member of Phi Sigma Chi and the college concert band.

The wife of Christopher D. Franks of Hope, Mrs. Franks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Stewart of Ashdown.

Midyear graduates will receive their diplomas with the May graduating class at commencement May 29.

The president, Mrs. Henry Seaman, led in the discussion, and it was decided to have an Invitational Tournament in the fall, the Ladies Golf Association tourney in May, and one for all ladies in the Hope Country Club in October.

Mrs. Emmett Wassell was hostess for the meeting, and a sack lunch was eaten at noon. Because of inclement weather, the members decided to forgo golf in the morning and the afternoon. Instead, they played bridge at two tables.

Full Week of Basketball at Hope High

By RALPH KOUTON, Star Sports Editor

During a week of basketball at Hope High, the boys' and girls' teams have scheduled games tomorrow night at Williams, starting at 6:30 p. m.

Also tomorrow evening the Yenger Bobcats and 8th graders will host Arkansas Tech at Jones Field House, with the first game also starting at 6:30 p. m.

Of course, the Bobcats and Bobcats will entertain Camden Lincoln here Friday night, and the Cats and "B" Lions are home to Arkansas Tech here on Saturday.

Charlotte Gibson's Lady Cats have won two straight and are 4-0 now after a 1-7 start. Williams (here next Tuesday) and Emmet are on the schedule next week; the Ladies gather some momentum for the stretch run.

Likely starters for the Lady Cats will be forwards Dee Singleton, Betty Rodden, Belinda East, and also Mary Beth Millican. At the guards will probably be Sharon East, Cindy Hollis, and Renee Quillen.

Yenger's Junior Kitty Cats have yet to play in 1970, and lost at Bradley in their last start. Coach Jo Adcock's squad should be about even with Williams tomorrow night.

For the Bobcats, 6-3 junior forward Charles Rateliff suffered an injured ankle in Monday's workout, and could be a week recovering. Everyone else is in good health and ready for the 4-AA West opener with Camden Lincoln on Friday here.

Rockets Put on Drive in Western Div.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Remember the Denver Rockets who were struggling along with an 11-21 record? They're the same Denver Rockets who have a 22-21 mark and are tied for second place in the American Basketball Association's Western Division.

The Rockets fired to their 11th straight victory Tuesday night, 136-122 over Pittsburgh, to deadlock Dallas and remain four games behind first-place New Orleans.

Rookie Spencer Haywood scored 35 points and grabbed 28 rebounds and Larry Jones rebounded in 30 points for Denver. Jones needs 16 points to become the first ABA player to score 5,000 points in a career. Arvesta Kelly topped Pittsburgh with 26 points.

Washington nipped Dallas 122-121 and New Orleans walked New York 126-106 in other ABA action.

In the National Basketball Association, Milwaukee drubbed Cincinnati 112-92, Detroit took San Francisco 115-102, Philadelphia blasted Atlanta 136-105, Boston downed Seattle 111-102 and Baltimore thumped San Diego 144-126.

Washington went ahead of Dallas for good, 112-110, on two foul shots by Roland Taylor. Rick Barry and Mike Barrett led the winners with 24 points each. Glen Combs paced Dallas with 26.

New Orleans broke its game with New York open in the third quarter, outscoring the Nets 37-21, as Red Robbins scored 13 points and Jack Moreland 12.

Steve Jones topped New Orleans scorers with 25 points. Moreland finished with 20 and Robbins 18. Walt Simon scored 29 for New York.

Bakelite, made in 1909 by Leo Bakeland, was our first synthetic resin.

Hendrix, SCA and Tech Post Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Hendrix Warriors stormed into the lead in the second half Tuesday night to beat State College of Arkansas 77-72 and win their first game of the season.

In other AIC action Tuesday night, Arkansas Tech frittered away a 20-point lead, but still managed to whip Southern State 90-85 and Harding blasted winless Ozarks 103-78.

SCA held a 41-31 halftime lead, but Thomas Benson hit a basket with 8:33 left in the game for a 60-58 lead that Hendrix never gave up in winning their first game against 12 defeats.

Benson, a freshman, scored 22 points and teammate DeWayne Nash added 21. AIC scoring leader Conny Johnson scored 28 points for SCA and Tommy Smith contributed 18.

Tech held a 20-point lead in the first half against Southern State, but it had dwindled to 54-41 by halftime. Southern State forged a 10-point lead in the second half, but Tech's Paul Brown hit with 1:37 left in the game to put the Wonder Boys ahead 62-61 and they rallied down the victory with free throws.

Brown ended with 33 points. Tommy Shaw had 31 for Tech. For Southern State, Billy Barnes poured in 29 points, McMahon 24 and Al Flanagan 22.

Danny Russell, en route to a 26-point night, helped Harding to a 47-37 halftime lead against Ozarks, then the dam burst. The Blisons cleared their last bench in the last half and each man scored. Freshman Joe Mathias added 20 rebounds.

James Whitmore had 21 points for Ozarks. Harding improved its record to 4-5 in the AIC and 6-8 overall. Ozarks is 0-8 and 0-12.

Aggies Take Texas, A&M in Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The defending Southwest Conference "basketball" champion Texas Aggies found charity Tuesday night, but it wasn't at home.

The Aggies connected on 33 of 38 shots from the charity stripe to whip the Texas Longhorns 87-81 in their very own Gregory Gymnasium in Austin before 7,200 fans.

Last week the Aggies fell 79-71 to Baylor because they could hit but 15 of 28 free throws. A&M rallied from a 47-43 deficit behind the clutch shooting of Mike Heilmann to give the 'Horns their second loss in three SWC games. A&M is now 2-1 and a notch behind Baylor which is 2-0.

Heilmann scored 25 points to lead all scorers. Seven-foot Steve Niles added 20 and Pat Kavanagh scored 19 for the winners.

Lynn Howden and Wayne Doyal paced the losers with 17 points each.

"It was the best second half A&M has played all year," said jubilant coach Shelby Metcalf. "If they had played anywhere near as well we would have beaten Baylor."

Texas coach Leon Black said "I thought we played a good game. We gave them a few baskets I hope we won't give up every game. They had the edge in rebounds and free throws."

Texas hit only 10 of 19 free throws. The Aggies shot 54 per cent from the field compared to Texas' 47.3 per cent.

A&M built up an eight-point lead with some six minutes left

Hapless Southern Methodist was the only other SWC club in action Tuesday night and the Mustangs suffered their ninth loss of the campaign against one lonely victory with a 94-92 nipping by Oklahoma City University.

Gene Phillips pumped in 39 points for the losers. Phillips was the leading scorer in the SWC with an average of 28 points per game going into the contest.

Penn State Unhappy On Courts

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Joe Paterno, Penn State's football coach, wasn't happy with the unbeaten Nittany Lions' second-best rating last season. Johnny Bach, Penn State's basketball coach, wishes he had it so good.

Bach's eagles took a 77-38 pasting from Princeton Tuesday night and dropped to 4-5 for the season in the wake of their lowest point total in 12 years. Princeton's Geoff Petrie, with 22 points, and John Hummer, with 17, combined to outscore the Nittany Lions, who shot just 21 per cent from the floor and were gunned down 41-17 after intermission.

Doug Cook's 26 points propelled Davidson, 11-1, to its 25th consecutive Southern Conference triumph. Tommy Miller popped 29 for the losers.

Illinois, No. 17 in this week's Associated Press poll, grabbed sole possession of the Big Ten Conference lead by drubbing Northwestern 101-80 for a 4-0 league mark. Greg Jackson hit for 24 points and Mike Price put in 23, pacing the Illinois to their 11th victory in 13 starts over-all.

Ohio State, beaten by Illinois last Saturday, rebounded with a 109-95 victory over Michigan. Dave Sorenson scored 29 points, one more than teammate Jim Clemons, as the 9-2 Buckeyes eclipsed Michigan star Rudy Tomjanovich, who took game honors with 34.

Wisconsin toppled Minnesota 98-84 in another Big Ten contest while Kansas State, 11-3, trimmed Nebraska 71-64 for its third Big Eight Conference victory without a loss and St. Louis, paced by Carlos Martinez' 33 points, downed Memphis State 88-77 in a Missouri Valley Conference game.

Oklahoma City nudged Southern Methodist 94-92, handing the Mustangs their ninth setback in 10 starts; Texas A&M topped Texas 87-81 in a Southwest Conference scrap; Virginia Military posted its first Southern Conference victory, a 71-70 nod over Richmond, and Toledo, 8-1, socked Western Michigan 73-57 for a 2-0 Mid-American Conference record.

In the only other major college activity, Centenary nipped Southern Mississippi 76-72 in overtime; Colgate outscored Lafayette 104-91 and California beat Portland 84-66.

Hall and Hull Picked All-Stars

MONTREAL (AP) — Glenn Hall and Bobby Hull, two National Hockey League stars who have seen little action this year, have been picked to play in the league's 23rd annual All-Star Game in St. Louis next Tuesday.

Scotty Bowman, coach of the St. Louis Blues and the West Division All-Stars, asked special permission, especially since the game is in St. Louis, to name goalie Hall of the Blues as an added starter, allowing the veteran netminder to play in his 12th All-Star Game.

Hall has played in only 10 games this season. Left-winger Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks, chosen for the East All-Stars by Coach Claude Ruel of Montreal Canadiens, has played in only 24 games following early season contract troubles.

Hull has 12 goals and 10 assists. The two coaches Tuesday announced their choice of players to supplement the 12 from each division selected earlier by members of the National Hockey League Writers' Association in the respective divisions.

Conny Johnson Leading AIC

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Conny Johnson of State College of Arkansas is the leading scorer in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference, according to AIC statistics.

Johnson is averaging 25 points per game. Paul Brown of Arkansas Tech is second with a 20.7 average, followed by Danny Davis of Henderson 18.5, Barry McMahon of Southern State 17.9, Billy Barnes of Southern State 17.2, Tommy Morrison of Arkansas A&M 16.3, and Gary Weeks of Arkansas College 16.2.

Barnes is the AIC's top rebounder with a 12.6 per game average.

Track Meet May Bring About Suit

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — San Jose State, the reigning National Collegiate Athletic Association track champion, threatens to sue the NCAA.

The possibility of the unprecedented suit was raised Tuesday by acting San Jose State president Robert W. Burns. He is protesting a one-year suspension from the NCAA track and field championships handed the Spartans.

Both Burns and San Jose State track coach Bud Winter say the school has been treated unfairly by the national organization and that all their efforts to reopen the case have failed.

Basically, the situation is this. Last year, several San Jose athletes, including John Carlos, participated in two meets run by the United States Track and Field Federation after being assured that the meets were sanctioned.

Later, Winter said, he was amazed to be told that the meets had not been certified by the NCAA even though the USTFF was created by the NCAA in its war with the Amateur Athletic Union.

San Jose was suspended, but none of the other schools that competed in either of the meets was penalized in any way, Winter said. Among the schools that had athletes in these meets were UCLA, Rice and the University of California at Santa Barbara.

"There are a lot of implications here," Winter said Tuesday. "This is a poor example of justice and as far as I'm concerned we're going to fight it to the death."

Burns agreed, saying, "On behalf of the college, I am investigating with legal counsel the possibilities of seeking justice through litigation in the civil courts."

In Washington, NCAA executive director Walter Byers said he would have no comment on the suit threat.

Earlier, Burns said, "This action against San Jose State may have been in part a prejudicial reaction to John Carlos' raised-fist gesture at the recent Olympics."

Winter said that if the NCAA had intended to punish Carlos, it had failed because he is no longer a member of the San Jose State team and is currently competing on the indoor track circuit.

"They got all the innocent guys on the team," said Winter. "Maybe they felt they needed a whipping boy and picked on the top dog."

Local Team Post Win in Texas Tourney

Perry's Truck Stop, Independent Basketball team of Hope, advanced in the Texarkana Invitational Tournament.

Tuesday night the local boys took the number of a New Boston squad and came out on top of a 103 to 87 decision.

Paul Henley led the Hope team with 31 and Ronnie Gerner hit 24 points. Wohls had 29 points for the losers.

The Truckers play again Thursday night at 8:30 in the Texarkana Tiger Gym.

players: defensemen Carl Brewer of Detroit; centers Jean Ratelle of New York and Dave Keon of Toronto; right wingers Ron Ellis of Toronto and Rod Gilbert of New York; and left wingers Hull and Frank Mahovlich of Detroit.

Yale Team Still Fighting Suspension

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The case of Yale's ineligible basketball player was back in the hands of the NCAA today following a stormy meeting of the affiliated Eastern College Athletic Conference that began with Yale being put on probation and wound up in limbo.

The latest episode in the controversial affair brought fireworks from the 190-member ECAC Tuesday when the organization's executive council submitted to a special meeting a resolution slapping Yale with probation until June 30, 1971.

But after two hours of heated discussion ranging from morality to legality, climaxed by a 66-38 vote, the council went back into closed session and an hour later withdrew the resolution pending further study.

The 12-man council said it would meet again later this month to decide whether to resubmit the resolution—automatically placing Yale on probation—at the ECAC's annual meetings in New York in late February.

In the meantime, the NCAA, holding its annual convention here, was expected to take some action against the prestigious Ivy League university Thursday. The penalty could range from a slap on the wrist to probation.

Yale has violated both NCAA and ECAC rules by playing Jack Langer, a 6-foot-8 center, who participated with Yale's blessing in the Maccabiah Games in Tel Aviv last August.

In a battle with the Amateur Athletic Union over control of this country's amateur program, the NCAA had refused to sanction the Maccabiah Games basketball competition, although it approved all other sports.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said the move was designed to "persuade" the AAU to give up the fight.

"The Langer case has become a matter of principle," said DeLaney Kipphut, Yale's director of athletics. "Yale has no intention of letting Jack Langer be used as a pawn between two groups seeking control over amateur basketball and we will not punish him by denying him the right to play basketball."

All eight Ivy League presidents have backed Yale's decision.

NCAA Tourney for St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The 1973 National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tournament will be played in the 16,500-seat St. Louis Arena, Athletic Director Larry Albus of host St. Louis University said Tuesday.

Albus said the NCAA Executive Committee approved the selection at a meeting in Washington, D.C., Tuesday.

St. Louis University plays its regular season games in the arena.

This year's NCAA tourney will be held at the University of Maryland. Next year the event moves to the Houston Astrodome and in 1972 it will be played at the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

Alworth in Pro Football Hall of Fame

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Wide receiver Lance Alworth and tackle Ron Mix of San Diego and center Jim Otto of Oakland were unanimous picks for the all time American Football League offensive team selected and announced today by the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Joe Namath, of the New York Jets, who missed by one vote of being unanimous, was chosen at quarterback with Paul Lowe of Los Angeles-San Diego-Kansas City and Clem Daniels of Dallas-Oakland at running backs.

The other wide receiver was Don Maynard of the Jets with Fred Arbanas of Kansas City at tight end. Jim Tyrer of Dallas-Kansas City was the other tackle and Billy Shaw of Buffalo and Ed Budde of Kansas City at guard.

George Blanda, Houston-Oakland, was the placekicker and Jerrel Wilson, Kansas City, the punter.

The second team was quarterback Len Dawson, Dallas-Kansas City; running backs Cookie Gilchrist, Buffalo-Denver-Miami, and Abner Haynes, Dallas-Kansas City-Denver-Miami-New York; wide receivers Charles Hennigan, Houston, and Art Powell, New York-Oakland-Buffalo, and tight end Dave Kocourek, Los Angeles-San Diego-Miami-Oakland.

Tackles Winston Hill, New York, and Steve Barber, Buffalo, guards Bob Talamini, Houston-New York, and Walt Sweeney, San Diego; center Jon Morris, Boston; placekicker Jim Turner, New York, and punter Bob Scarfippo, San Diego-Denver-Boston.

AFL members of the board of selectors of the hall of fame selected the team to cap the AFL's 10 years of competition before it merges this year with the National Football League. Members of the team will be honored at the final AFL event, the All-Star game in Houston Saturday.

All members of the first team, with the exception of Daniels, were active at least part of the 1969 season, and only Namath has played less than seven seasons. Otto, Mix, Maynard and Blanda have played in all of the league's 10 seasons.

The closest vote for a first team berth was at guard where Budde edged Talamini and Sweeney.

had told him privately they had noted similar hypersexuality in some of their L-dopa treated patients, O'Malley said. He added: "At first, we felt we ought to keep this quiet, but now most of us feel that it ought to be publicized because of the possibility of engendering studies—at some later date—of the possible, controlled use of L-dopa as a treatment for frigidity and impotence."

He stressed that, for the present, all neurologists are "fully occupied" with further exploring L-dopa's use against Parkinson's disease.

O'Malley said researchers are aware of the possibility that if L-dopa becomes generally available to the medical profession—in contrast to its present status as an experimental drug—"hippie-like kids, always looking for any kind of a new thrill" might try to get it by improper means.

"But anyone with such intentions," he said, "should be warned that L-dopa, while a very safe drug in skilled hands, is a very dangerous drug in unskilled hands."

O'Malley told of the new findings in an interview prior to the opening of a one-day symposium on "The Pharmacology of L-dopa" being sponsored by Georgetown University School of Medicine with the financial support of Eaton Laboratories, Norwich, N.Y., one of the American manufacturers of L-dopa.

O'Malley's disclosure on L-dopa marks the second time in recent weeks that scientists have reported the discovery of apparently aphrodisiac chemicals.

Sunday Opening for Retail Stores Now Becoming Nat'l Trend

By WHAYNE EISENMAN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It's Sunday and the cash registers are ringing in Larry Voet's supermarket, but to him they don't have the same musical chime as on weekdays.

"I don't think anybody likes working on Sundays," Voet said watching a woman squeeze a head of lettuce then toss it back on the pile.

Like it or not, Voet, manager of an Albers supermarket in Cincinnati, and other retailers across the nation are faced with a growing trend to remain open on Sundays.

"Our store stays open only because others are open . . . it's a chain reaction," he said.

Even old-line department stores—pressed by competition and an apparent demand by shoppers for a place to buy on weekends—are staying open on the traditional day of rest.

"Our stores will remain open only in areas where our major competitors . . . keep their stores open . . ." said a J. C. Penney spokesman.

Penney, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck experimented with Sunday sales in some stores for the first time last year and say they intend to continue the practice.

Sunday has a marked advantage to some shoppers.

Husbands who commute between suburb and city can accompany their wives to help make decisions on major purchases, and excursions through rambling department stores take the form of Sunday outings for the whole family.

One-car families and working wives like Sunday shopping, reports a Food Fair market manager in Los Angeles. Business is "especially heavy Friday nights and continues through the weekend," when the car is available.

he said.

But opening either large or small stores on Sunday is not as simple as it might seem.

The extra work day is expensive and can cut into the profits from increased sales—if they do, in fact, increase.

And many states have "blue laws." These are so called because the severe moral dictates of 18th Century Connecticut Puritans were bound in a blue book. The blue laws restrict sales of many items on the Sabbath.

Blue laws have been modified over the years and frequently have been the center of legislative controversy.

In Kentucky, for example, it is legal to buy a glass of milk on Sunday, but not a full bottle. You can buy a cooked hamburger but not a frozen one.

In Massachusetts food may be sold only by farmers or stores which during the week employ not more than three persons, including the owner.

In spite of blue laws, some merchants have been determined to open on Sundays, with varying results.

In Hopkinsville, Ky., for example, the S. H. Kress Co. was recently fined $50 for violating the state's Sunday closing law. A similar charge against Big K, a discount store, was dropped.

Sunday sales of general merchandise in Ohio are prohibited, but they continue.

"Nobody enforces the law, I guess because it's an unpopular one," said John C. Young, city attorney for Columbus. "They tried to enforce it . . . about five or six years ago . . . went through 200 to 300 cases . . . but there was so much pressure from the business community, they finally stopped enforcing it."

Kansas has an area of 82,264 square miles.

Negro Quits in Panther Prosecution

By FRANK MURRAY
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —

The nation's lone Negro U.S. attorney describes as silly and wasteful the Justice Department's grand jury investigation here of the national Black Panthers party—a probe he said was ordered by Washington without consulting him.

Cecil F. Poole, who has resigned effective Jan. 31 from the prosecutor's post he has held since 1961, referred in an interview to the Justice Department's actions and said: "Whatever they say they're doing, they're out to get the Black Panthers."

An authorization from Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was required before outside prosecutors could assist a grand jury in Poole's district. The panel began its probe in May but recently expanded it to include the financial affairs of the party.

"That they sent out the special task force didn't bother me so much," Poole said. "What bothered me was they did it without prior warning to me or consultation."

"To a large degree," he added, "I don't agree with this whole probe. It bothers me because I think it's silly, quite wasteful. A lot of the things they're doing are harassment."

As an example, he cited the arrest of David Hilliard, the Panther's chief of staff, following his indictment by the jury on charges he threatened President Nixon's life in a Nov. 15 speech.

"I could have had him in here on a phone call," Poole said of Hilliard. "We call his lawyer and the man will surrender. I suggested we do that but their instructions from Washington were to go get him so they did. That's what I mean by harassment."

A Justice Department spokesman

GETTING THE SWING of things, actress Lauren Bacall starts rehearsing for an upcoming Broadway musical. It will mark her debut in a singing and dancing role.

man in Washington said the department "is not in business to harass anybody . . . not out to get any group."

"For the record," the spokesman added, "the Justice Department trusts all its U.S. attorneys."

Poole said the government attorneys assisting before the jury, now scheduled to end its term April 3, are from the five-man "special Black Panther unit of the Justice Department." The two regularly appearing here, Victor Woerheide and Jerome Hellbron, are officially identified as special attorneys of the department's criminal division in Washington.

In the interview, Poole described as insane the Panther policies on stockpiling arms and calling police "pigs."

Non-Public Schools Hurt by Tax Rule

By KATHRYN JOHNSON Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) - Private school officials say denial of income tax benefits to their donors would be a blow - but not a fatal one - to the hundreds of such institutions mushrooming across the South to avoid integration.

In a random poll by The Associated Press, they conceded they would be hurt financially by the tax policy, but suggested by Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare.

But most said the bulk of their support came from tuition, not wealthy donors, and none felt their schools would be closed down by such tax action.

Private academies have been flourishing, principally in the South, since the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Finch estimates 400 were formed to escape public school integration.

Under present tax laws, contributions to nonprofit educational institutions are deductible from federal income taxes.

In the case of wealthy donors, this can mean a saving of 30 to 70 cents on every dollar contributed, the controller of one private school said.

Thousands of older private schools depend heavily on tax deductible contributions for raising funds.

However, officials of the new schools claim they do not receive heavy contributions. One, from Louisiana, said his school was deliberately set up as a profit-making organization because "we figured the federal octopus would stick its nose into this."

The Rev. Melvin Plauche, a Baptist minister and president of the new Evangeline Academy, which just moved into a $100,000 building at Ville Platte, La., said:

"That's why we're a profit-making organization. If you want something, you have to pay for it. We do and we're paying dearly. We're very leery of anything that will let the government in."

The Treasury Department held in August 1967 that private schools, even those designed to maintain segregation, were entitled to exempt status as long as they were not direct instruments of state policy.

Finch says he will recommend that the Treasury Department revise its ruling. He concedes, however, that it would be difficult to penalize schools whose primary purpose is to avoid integration without damaging other private schools as well.

Although none of the officials of the new private schools felt they would be closed down by the shutting off of tax exempt contributions, an official of a long-established private school declared: "They'll be far more crippled by a tax action than they know. Some would have to close down."

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - Those funny old days when the horseless carriage was scaring the horses and when dare-devil motorists in goggles and dusters were dashing down dirt roads at a dizzy 20 miles per hour seem to hold a special fascination for the makers of TV documentaries.

With so many antique car collection and archive photographs around, the subject is, visually, a TV natural. It is even more attractive because the appearance of those first ungainly vehicles, belching smoke and wobbling on skinny wheels, evolved into a love affair between Americans and motor cars which, after half a century, shows no signs of cooling.

ABC's "The Golden Age of the Automobile" special Tuesday night was a gay, colorful history of the years between 1900 and 1927 when the "flivver" departed and the automobile really came of age. Much of the hour's charm was the contemporary film of beautifully restored old cars filled with drivers and passengers in the costumes of the period showing the good life of Tin Lizzie days.

Mixed into producer John Seccardi's narration was a sense of humor, and evidence of solid research and sociological footnotes.

He mentioned almost in passing that in 1912 cars, once cranked, were able to get going by means of the self-starter.

The invention, he said, precipitated a "social revolution" because women were then able to climb into the driver's seat. It was fascinating to contemplate that it was men like Henry Ford, who made cars working men could buy, and Charles Francis Ketterling, who thought up the self-starter, who might really be responsible for the emancipation of women, not Susan B. Anthony or Amelia Bloomer of women's rights fame.

For those of a more practical turn of mind, there was nostalgia for the good old days almost 60 years ago when a sturdy Model T could be purchased for $290.

ABC, incidentally, ran into a programming bind with its "Movie of the Week" what followed. The feature, "Foreign Exchange" was a jumpy, cliché-laden secret agent drama.

Robert Horton played a tough retired agent shoved back in the business for one final caper in Moscow. He emerged intact, of course, but the program wound up after only one hour and a quarter, leaving the network with 15 minutes to fill. It elected to use an illustrated film history of the Revolutionary War. That was okay except that they broke it off abruptly, almost in the middle of a sentence explaining events in 1778, and shot right into "Marcus Welby, M.D."

CBS' half hour news department program was a hasty inspection of the recent instant integration, by Supreme Court order, in 30 Mississippi school districts.

The program's emphasis appeared to be on the continuing although non-violent opposition by members of the white community. It showed the newly organized private schools and shot some sequences in Canton, where one-third of the teachers quit and only 1 per cent of the white students were attending public high school.

The other side was represented, of course. But the program was at best a survey. School integration is a big subject with so many facets that it could not be handled in depth in so short a time period.

"The Wonderful World of Disney" was the most popular program on the air during the week of Dec. 29, followed by "Laugh-In" and "Gunsmoke." In the Nielsen ratings averages, NBC again led with 21.7, followed by CBS with 20.2 and ABC, with 15.5.

Opening lead—♦ 2

Bridge is a game of both luck and skill. In rubber bridge the man with the good cards is going to win and the better he plays the more he will win. In duplicate good cards don't help but there is still plenty of luck. Take today's hand as an example.

South's one no-trump call was irregular to say the least and North's pass was silly indeed. He should surely have raised the no-trump bid.

West opened the deuce of diamonds. South looked over dummy and saw that there was a sure four no-trump if the club suit would break nicely for him.

He decided to play the hand on the theory that clubs wouldn't break and that maybe those declarers who reached game wouldn't make it. He called for dummy's nine of diamonds. East took his 10 and returned a heart. West won with the 10 and led the diamond five. South thought that one over carefully and called for dummy's seven. East was on lead again and played a second heart. West was allowed to win that also. Then West played out his king of diamonds.

South finally took that trick. The defense had four tricks in and the queen of diamonds was set up as a potential fifth. South decided to insure his contract by taking the spade finesse. That lost and West cashed his diamond queen but there was no way for South to lose anything more.

At that his score of plus 90 turned out to be average. It seems that lots of other North-South pairs reached the proper three no-trump contract but the declarers tried to make it without using the club suit. Those declarers did manage to make eight tricks, but eight tricks when you need nine produces a minus score.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

No Definite Proof Of Menopausal Arthritis

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q-Is there such a condition as menopausal arthritis? Will it clear up after the menopause?

A-Although this condition has been described in medical literature, it has never been proved that the arthritis was caused by the change. Treatment with estrogens neither prevents nor benefits it and it does not clear up after the menopause.

Q-My uterus was removed eight months ago. Since then, I have taken female hormones. Now I have begun to have a heavy growth of hair on my face. Is this part of the surgical menopause?

A-Excessive hair growth on the face is due chiefly to hereditary factors. But, because it so often accompanies the menopause, some authorities believe, without much in the way of solid proof, that this is a factor.

Q-Is it true that the taking of medicines for the relief of the discomforts of the menopause will prolong it? Is the change always accompanied by a gain in weight, indifference to marital relations and general despondency?

A-Hormones and other drugs taken for menopausal symptoms will neither shorten nor lengthen the change. A gain in weight at this time is more likely to be the result of decreased physical activity without a reduction in food intake. In many, but not all, women, the wish for marital relations increases as the menopause progresses, especially if fear of pregnancy had formerly imposed restraint. General despondency has many causes, chief among which is aging. But the menopause gets blamed for just about everything.

Q-Do men have a change of life? How long does it last? Should they take hormones for it?

A-A few men of 50 or more show an increase in irritability, general apathy and even hot flashes. Since the cessation of testicular function occurs later and more gradually in men than the cessation of ovarian function in women, it cannot be called a male menopause. The symptoms noted are those commonly associated with aging. Although some doctors advocate male hormones for elderly men to relieve these symptoms, most doctors believe that they are of little value for this purpose.

Mother Tells of Kidnaping of Daughter

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Emeett Vickers says the decision to notify police of the kidnaping of her daughter was difficult because of a threat the abductors made on the daughter's life.

"They always tell you when something like this happens to call the police," Mrs. Vickers said. "That's really the only way, but when you have been threatened with death and your baby threatened, it's a hard decision to make."

Mrs. Vickers, wife of a Texarkana grocer, and her daughter, Karen, 16, kidnaped last Thursday by three men and held for 27 hours for $40,000 ransom, described the abduction in an interview with the Texarkana Gazette.

"I've thrown these kind of men from the store every day," said Mrs. Vickers of the men who barged into the Vickers home and abducted Karen.

Mrs. Vickers says she had taken off from work at the grocery the night of the kidnaping.

She said that when she answered a knock at the front door she called for the person to identify himself and he answered "Jim Wilson." She said she turned the door knob and the latch clicked.

"I didn't open the door, when the latch clicked they forced the door open a little and one rammed his hand through the opening," she said. "He came a gun. Then the men forced their way into the house."

Mrs. Vickers said the men—she remembered there being three, but Karen says there were four, although neither was sure—broke into Karen's room and dragged her out holding a gun at her head.

Karen said she had been playing records, and doing her homework. She said she thought her sister Carla had just come home from work.

"I turned my record player off and when I turned around, a Negro man was standing in my door with his hand over his face," she said. "He also had a stocking over his head."

One of the men kept telling Mrs. Vickers and her daughter, "I had just as soon kill you as not."

Karen was blindfolded and one of the men told Mrs. Vickers to get $40,000 ransom ready, the mother said. He said he would call and tell her where to drop the money, she said.

"I asked him to hold us here and we would have the money for them in an hour," Mrs. Vickers said. She said he laughed and replied, "We're not kids you're playing with. All we want is money. Your lives don't mean nothing to us."

She said his last words as the men left, after tying Mrs. Vickers with a telephone cord, were: "If you call for help, she'll be dead."

Mrs. Vickers was freed about an hour later when her husband returned from work and they

Parkinson's Disease Remedy Turns Out to Be Sex Stimulant, Too

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Georgetown University neurologist disclosed today unexpected evidence that the experimental drug L-dopa can be a powerful sex stimulant that might prove to be a long-sought medical weapon against female frigidity and male impotence.

L-dopa already has been hailed as a possible breakthrough against crippling Parkinson's disease, but Dr. William E. O'Malley said it also looks like "a true aphrodisiac" that could benefit hundreds of thousands of people throughout the world.

O'Malley said in an interview the drug has demonstrated powers of giving some men "in their 60s and 70s" more sexual vigor than the average 20-year-old man.

And, he added, while predominantly affecting men, it also has induced "hypersexuality, that is, a marked increase in sexuality," in certain women.

He reported that the unexpected findings have been discerned as a side-effect in about

Surrender of Biafra Now Is Official

By MORT ROSENBLUM
Associated Press Writer

LAGOS (AP) — Nigeria's chief of state, General Yakubu Gowon, accepted Biafra's surrender at midnight Monday, promised a general amnesty and called for talks to work out terms.

European and American relief plans to aid an estimated four million hungry Biafrans and other tribesmen in the vanquished state awaited approval by the Nigerians. A top Nigerian official said the government has all the food needed, the problem is getting it to the hungry.

Reception centers were being established to care for the millions of refugees expected to pour out of the bush.

Gowon made his announcement in a 10-minute broadcast after the Biafran command capitulated earlier in the day. He asked the Biafran leaders to send delegates to work out terms to end the 2½-year-old civil war.

He pledged that "adequate care will be given to all civilians" and said army units will be accompanied by police "to establish effective federal presence. . . They will take all care . . . and shoot only if they encounter resistance."

Gowon said he accepted in good faith the declaration by Biafran Maj. Gen. Philip Effiong that the vanquished secessionists would make peace in accord with the Organization of African Unity's resolution stipulating a united Nigeria.

Effiong, 45, took over Sunday night after the Biafran Chief of state, Gen. C. Ojukwu Ojukwu, left the country on one of the last flights out. A Red Cross worker said Ojukwu flew to Libreville, Gabon.

Tordon 101, commonly called picloram, is used by the commission on 2.47 square miles in the United States, she added.

Mrs. Sheehy said the chemical is similar to that used as a defoliant "by utility, highway, nursery and agriculture departments in nearly every state."

The mixture of the chemical used by the commission "sifted to the conditions along the border and doesn't kill the berry bushes or grass," she added.

The 20-foot strip along the border—half of it on the American side—"is not a demilitarized zone; it is becoming more parklike because the growth is so low."

"Since the 1925 treaty, we've been maintaining the entire boundary—5,526 miles—and we spray only the extremely wooded areas. We've used Department of Agriculture-approved chemicals that are widely used commercially for control of undesirable growth," she said.

"We have always taken all precautions—we haven't had one legitimate complaint in 15 years," she added.

Nelson suggested halting the nation's participation in the spraying program until it could be reevaluated.

Cutbacks Indicated for Budget

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's first budget message will call for a federal spending total of around $202 billion to $203 billion, administration sources estimate.

To help squeeze costs down and assure a surplus, one official reported privately, the Jan. 27 message to Congress may call for cutbacks in some government services, possibly including operations of the Post Office. No details were provided.

The budget reportedly will show a surplus of "a very few billion dollars," an official said, with the help of an odds-and-ends package of tax increases, user charges and speedups in tax collections.

Nixon met Tuesday with his Cabinet, the White House reported, for a review of the budget proposals "before totally locking it up."

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler indicated the President would be able to keep his promise of a balanced budget for fiscal 1971, starting July 1.

However, doubts have been rising within the administration on whether Nixon can hold spending to $192.9 billion in fiscal 1970, as he has vowed, in view of bulging costs and rising interest outlays, plus some unwanted increases made by Congress in appropriation requests.

Still hanging fire is the $19.8 billion appropriation bill for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare; it carries $1 billion more for education than Nixon asked. The President also has criticized a pending military and civilian pay bill, which would affect the current fiscal year's budget.

The quest for new revenues to improve the 1971 fiscal picture has produced a variety of proposals from the Treasury. Several of them are expected to appear in the budget message.

Protest Weed-Killer on Border

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tiny agency that has worked for years in obscurity trying to keep the U.S.-Canadian border clear of weeds and heavy undergrowth has found itself part of the growing controversy over environmental control.

For 15 years, the International Boundary Commission of the United States and Canada routinely used government-approved chemicals to help clear sections of the border.

Then, last October, Sen. Gaylord A. Nelson, D-Wis., wrote the State Department to question the practice of using a chemical he said is also a defoliant in Vietnam.

In his letter to the State Department, Nelson said 800 to 1,000 miles along the border had been sprayed, and although the chemical would not directly harm fish and wildlife, there is an intrusion into the balance of nature.

And all of a sudden, conservationists and other critics discovered the commission—phone and mail business for the six people in the office has been brisk.

Mrs. Marie Sheehy, administrative officer for the commission, said from 250 to 300 persons have phoned or written to complain but "about 99 per cent of them are conservationists who haven't even been to the border to see what we are doing."

Conservationists are jumping to erroneous conclusions on some misinformation circulated about the scope of the project, she said.

Tordon 101, commonly called picloram, is used by the commission on 2.47 square miles in the United States, she added.

Mrs. Sheehy said the chemical is similar to that used as a defoliant "by utility, highway, nursery and agriculture departments in nearly every state."

50,000 to Lose Jobs in Space Agency

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — After enjoying lavish funds in the '60s for its exotic forays into space, NASA is beginning the '70s with a purse drawn so tight it can barely stay afloat. It won the '60s race with the Russians; it is losing out to the national needs of the '70s.

Its already shrunken work force is being cut by 50,000 people. Other curtailments may signal an indefinite delay in sending men to Mars and a slowdown by at least a year in the next big space moves—building a space shuttle and advanced earth stations.

To save money, the space agency will stretch out its moon landing flights to two a year for the seven flights remaining, skipping 1972 entirely. It will postpone a planned unmanned landing on Mars by at least two years and order no more Saturn 5 rockets beyond the eight being built or nearing completion.

In the manner of a man discussing the terminal illness of a close friend, administrator Thomas O. Paine announced the cuts Tuesday, saying he is "taking actions to redirect portions of our space program to bring NASA's total operations in line with the budget which we will work with in fiscal 1971."

He did not say how much space agency money President Nixon will request when he submits his budget Jan. 27, but it was obvious the figure will be no more than $3.7 billion—the lowest in a decade. The total may even go below $3.5 billion.

The commission said it expected traffic conditions to be worse this year.

Scott said general highway patrol work over the state was more important in saving lives and that he had not seen any justification for "keeping a man here even for one hour."

He said the State Police provided no troopers for traffic control in Little Rock when the University of Arkansas played football there last season.

City Seeks Solution to I-30 Access

The City of Directors at their meeting Tuesday night discussed some way to work out a solution to the problem of getting connecting roads to Interstate 30.

They reviewed all the discussions and negotiations that have taken place between the community and the State Highway Department during the past three years. There has been a lot of controversy over suggestions made by the planning division of the State Highway Department, as well as some suggestions by local people. The Highway Department, probably as a result of local controversy, seems to have backed off from the discussion and even slowed down work that was in the stage of engineering planning.

Mayor Frank Douglas, with the approval of the Board of Directors, said that he was going to ask a group of men representing a wide cross-section of the community to work with city officials in getting the community and the highway department working together for a solution to the problem. The mayor is completing a list of people he will ask to serve on the committee, and the board of directors all agreed to meet with such a committee as soon as the group can be contacted.

The board reviewed a report of the progress that has been made toward securing ambulance service for the county to replace the present service performed by the local mortuaries, who have said they are going to discontinue the service. They had set a deadline of January 15, but agreed to continue a short time if there seemed to be some definite program toward establishing an ambulance service in the county.
